

Nyhavn Canal

Description

The Nyhavn Canal of Copenhagen was built from 1670 to 1675 under the rule of King Christian V, as a way to access the old inner city from the sea. It does not only offer some of the best views in Denmark, the canal district itself is spectacular. It is lined with bars and restaurants and in warm weather, the outdoor seating and waterfront restaurants can get crowded.

Metadata

- City: Copenhagen
- Country: Denmark
- GPS Coordinates: 55.6745° N, 12.5877 °E
- Landmarks: Famous Districts
- Cadastral Number: DK.L.FD.C.1